Supervisor Thomson commented on the conclusions of the report, on the need for follow up compliance checks and asked whether there was a need for a fraud compliance officer within the department dedicated to IHSS or additional resources needed to become compliant.

Health Officer Dr. Bela Matyas provided information on the IHSS Program noting that it was a shared program with the state that the County administered. He noted that the County had little control over many aspects of the program and that the most likely area for fraud was in the approval of the IHSS employee's timecard by the client. He advised that the IHSS employee was often a family member of the client. He then advised that the County's focus was on delivery of care and that system-wide training would be taking place to improve the lag in documentation processing of the program.

In response to questions from Supervisor Thomson, Dr. Matyas provided information on a time period of transition for documentation processes and noted that the audit was done before the processes had been improved. He advised that the next follow up audit was anticipated to be better.

Auditor-Controller Simona Padilla-Scholtens advised that the internal control audit addressed compliance terms and conditions and was not a program audit. She then noted that a follow up audit would be conducted to ensure compliance in the areas that were identified.

Dr. Matyas noted that the department welcomed the audit and was always trying to improve. He noted that part of the issue was how the program was designed.

Supervisor Thomson advised that his role was to look at whether funding as being used appropriately.

Ms. Padilla-Scholtens advised that the program was a state program that was administered by the County and that the County had the responsibility to ensure checks and balances were in place to minimize any potential fraud waste and abuse.
