ARTICLE I. PROGRAMS DEFINITIONS

- A. “Activity” means actual work performed by program personnel to implement objectives.
- B. “Behavior” indicates action rather than knowledge or attitudes.
- C. “Behaviorally Focused Nutrition Messages” means messages that are related to:
 - 1. Healthy food choices, for example, eating lower-fat foods instead of foods high in saturated fat; increasing fruit intake by adding one fruit each day; and switching to whole grain breads instead of refined breads.
 - 2. Other nutritional issues, for example, encouraging physical activity.
 - 3. The environmental impact of dietary practices, including safe food handling and promoting community physical activity groups.
 - 4. Food shopping practices that increase purchasing power and the availability of food, including using store coupons, joining clubs for added discounts, and purchasing in bulk.
 - 5. Food security, such as applying for nutrition assistance programs (i.e., Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), also known as CalFresh in California; Women, Infants, and Children; food distribution programs, etc.).
- D. “CalFresh” means a federal food assistance program, funded by the US Department of Agriculture and known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). CalFresh is an entitlement that provides low-income families with electronic benefits that can be used to purchase food at participating markets and food stores.
- E. “Census Tracts” are small, relatively permanent geographic entities within counties (or the statistical equivalent of counties) delineated by a committee of local data users. Generally, census tracts have between 2,500 and 8,000 residents and boundaries that follow visible features. Census tract data may be used in targeting audiences for delivery of SNAP-Education (SNAP-Ed).
- F. “County Nutrition Action Plan (CNAP)” means the SNAP-Ed planning process where all partners come together to identify eligible sites for SNAP-Ed delivery and what SNAP-Ed funded entity should serve those sites.

ARTICLE I. PROGRAM DEFINITIONS (Continued)

- G. “Education and Administrative Reporting System (EARS)” means the annual data and information collection process completed by SNAP State agencies.

EARS collects uniform data and information on nutrition education activities funded by SNAP during the prior fiscal year.

- H. “Effectiveness” means the extent to which pre-established objectives are attained as a result of program activity, as indicated by established performance measures.

- I. Emerging Strategies or Interventions means community-or practitioner-driven activities that have not yet been formally evaluated for obesity prevention outcomes.

- J. “Evaluation Process” means the method to collect, analyze, and use program information to identify program effectiveness. There are four key evaluation types:

1. “Formative” evaluation involves pre- and ongoing testing of consumer and intermediary elements within program delivery, including messaging, consumer communication materials, training and intervention aids, and evaluation instruments. May be used to adapt elements of an existing evidence-based intervention to a new audience, geographic area, or setting.
2. “Process” evaluation can involve such measures as tracking the number of materials distributed, the number of clients reached, the effectiveness of alternate methods for delivering services and/or barriers to implementing the intervention; helps to assure fidelity that an evidence-based intervention is delivered as designed and thus likely to result in the expected outcomes.
3. “Outcome” evaluation demonstrates changes that occur in the presence of an intervention but does not establish cause and effect conclusions.
4. “Impact” evaluation indicates how effective the intervention was in changing the target populations’ attitudes, awareness and/or behavior.

- K. “Evidence-Based Approach” means a nutrition education and obesity prevention approach that integrates the best research evidence with the best available practice-based evidence.

1. The best research evidence refers to relevant, rigorous nutrition and public health nutrition research, including systematically reviewed scientific evidence.

ARTICLE I. PROGRAM DEFINITIONS (Continued)

2. Practice-based evidence refers to case studies, pilot studies, and evidence from the field of nutrition education interventions that demonstrate obesity prevention potential.
 3. Evidence may be related to obesity prevention target areas, intervention strategies, and/or specific interventions. The target areas are identified in the current Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Intervention strategies are broad approaches to intervening in specific target areas. Interventions are a specific set of evidence-based, behaviorally focused activities and/or actions to promote healthy eating and active lifestyles.
 4. Evidence-based allowable uses of funds for SNAP-Ed include conducting and evaluating intervention programs and implementing and measuring policy, systems, and environmental changes in accordance with SNAP-Ed Guidance.
- L. “Federal Fiscal Year (FFY)” means the period of time that begins October 1 of one year through September 30 of the following year.
- M. “Integrated Work Plan (IWP)” means the FFY SNAP-Ed three-year work plan developed with an integrated approach by all SNAP-Ed funded implementing agencies in their local jurisdiction. The IWP identifies goals, objectives, key messages, educational materials, description of target populations, intervention plans, community needs, target messaging, intervention strategies, and evaluation plans to improve the health of the SNAP-Ed eligible population.
- N. Intervention strategies are broad approaches to intervening on specific target areas.
- O. Interventions are a specific set of evidence-based, behaviorally focused activities and/or actions to promote healthy eating and active lifestyles.
- P. “Low-Income Persons” means older adults age 60 and older participating in or applying for SNAP, as well as people with low financial resources defined as gross household incomes at or below 185 percent (185%) of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). Census data identifying areas where low-income persons reside are examples of available data sources that can be used to identify low-income populations. Participation in other means-tested Federal assistance programs may also be used as a proxy for low-income since these individuals have gross family incomes below 185 percent (185%) of FPL.
- Q. “Needs Assessment” is the process of identifying and describing the extent and type of health and nutrition problems and needs of low-income older adults in the community.

- U. “Program Requirements” means SNAP-Ed program requirements found in the Nutrition and Food Act of 2008, Sec. 28 as amended through Pub. L. 113-128 (7 USC 2036a); Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act of 2010, (Sec. 41 Pub.
